S. P. WILL AGAIN RENEW APPLICATION

Many of the Franklin Street Property Owners Now Favor Temporary Line

It is reported that the Southern Pacific's proposal to establish a temporary street car service to connect its Fourteenth street and Sixteenth street depots is finding some favor with the Franklin street property owners who have thus far blocked all the railway's efforts to secure a franchise on that thoroughfare north of Fourteenth street.

The route of the proposed street car line will run along Franklin street, from Fourteenth street to Sixteenth street, and thence westerly to the bay shore. Passengers will be carried from any point on this line, via either the broad or narrow gauge routes, to San Francisco for the regular ferry fare.

If the Franklin street property owners withdraw their objections to the granting of the franchise under this proposal, the petition of the railway company will again be brought before the franchise committee of the city council on December 2.

FIRST APPLICATION.
For some time the matter of permission to run trains on this avenue has engrossed the attention of the residents of that vicinity as well as the officers of the railroad company and the members of the city council. The application was first made for a franchise for a line. Employees of the company secretly secured the consent of a sufficient number of the property owners, but when the matter was brought to the attention of the remaining property owners a protest was filed that was of sufficient volume to induce some of the original signers of the company's petition to withdraw their names.

When this situation developed an effort was made to secure a private right of way through the center of the blocks bounded by Franklin and Webster streets, and options were secured on nearly all of the property needed. Then came an opportunity for compromise.

FRANK C. JORDAN DOUBLE DRUMMER

Displays Fine Line of Office Seeking Talk While in Fresno

Frank C. Jordan,
Commercial and Political Traveler.

(Fresno Republican, November 21.)
Frank C. Jordan, carrying a line of printers' supplies in one grip and another line of political conversation in another, irradiated the pleasant sunshine of his personality in Fresno yesterday. The reason—there's a reason of course—is that Frank C. Jordan has succumbed again to the lure of the running game. The former clerk of the Supreme Court is seeking by the grip that thrills, the smile that expands and the talk that charms, the office of Secretary of State—one of the greatest offices in many respects, in the gift of the people to bestow. So says Mr. Jordan. But he says more: "It will be hard to surpass the present efficiency of the office, but I shall make it my constant endeavor to do even better."

Mr. Jordan would not be a candidate under the old system. He has retired from politics. But the direct primary crooked a cordial finger in invitation back into the game.

DIRECT PRIMARY.
"The direct primary," he says, "is the reason I am running. And I'll tell you it means going some. Let me see, I have traveled 4000 miles, visited thirty-eight counties and sixty-nine cities. I have been from Kern to the Oregon line and I am still going. Of course, I am traveling for a business firm, too, printers' supplies, you know. Yes, combining business and politics, but certainly separate lines. I couldn't do it otherwise."

"Does a man have to be a drummer to run for office under the direct primary?" was asked.

"Well, I am, you see," was the cheerful response, not exactly committing, but jovial.

"Yes, it's a big job, seeing the people. But I find that my friends from Siskiyou to San Diego haven't forgotten me. I am looking to no faction, just meeting the voters of the State of California. They say I'm early in the field, but I tell you California is a great State, a State of magnificent distances, and time flies fast in politics. And to meet the people of this State! Why, in San Francisco during Fortia, I almost got disheartened—no, I didn't get disheartened, but when I saw the thousands and thousands of people—all, or nearly all, sovereign voters—well, it impressed upon me more strongly than ever the tremendous task I had undertaken to meet the people of this State."

WHY OUT EARLY.
"The hours for this reception are not from 2 to 4 in the afternoon, but a year. So you see why I'm out early."

"And when it's all over, I hope to establish a record so that people will say, 'Well, no man in the history of California ever tried like Jordan in 1910.' It is my last year and I hope that no man in California will ever regret having stayed with me."

That's just a faint and imperfect idea of the line of political talk that Jordan displays to a prospective voter. All places are simple rooms, but every male citizen over the age of 21 years, not a native of China or an idiot or insane person is a prospective voter and may see samples.

FIVE TURKEYS PRIZES AT WOODMEN'S WHIST

ALAMEDA, Nov. 22.—Five big, fat turkeys will be the prizes to be given by Casual Camp, Woodmen of the World at the whist tournament tonight. The whist will be held at the club rooms of the Alameda Improvement Club at 1611 Webster street, and every member of the camp who wants turkey for Thanksgiving is requested to attend and try to win one of the prizes.

The owners of property fronting on Franklin street offered to withdraw their objection if the company would inaugurate an electric train service. This proposition met with an objection on the part of the corporation, which was willing to institute a regular street car service, connected with its trains at Fourteenth and Franklin streets, but which did not feel disposed to electrify the entire system at once.

Several conferences have been held on the matter and it is believed now that no objection will be made to the street car service, provided connection is made with the train service and passengers are carried to San Francisco from any point on the proposed line at no additional cost or fare.

TO MAKE INVESTIGATION OF CAUSE OF WRECK

SAN FRANCISCO, November 22.—United States Inspector of Boilers Bulger announced today that the investigation of the fire that destroyed the steamer St. Croix off Santa Monica Saturday night would be held in this city as soon as the officers and crew of the burned vessel arrive here. Captain Fred Warner of the St. Croix arrived today and it is expected that the other officers and members of the crew will be here by the middle of the week.

BERKELEY WOMAN SAVES HER BABY PASSENGERS DID NOT KNOW OF FIRE

Mrs. L. A. Wallace, Pluckily Keeps Infant Afloat, Although Severely Bruised

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22.—The only event of a serious nature connected with the abandonment of the St. Croix concerned Mrs. L. A. Wallace of Berkeley. She was rather badly injured and her baby narrowly escaped drowning. With several other women, Mrs. Wallace fled out of a boat into the ocean when a block broke.

Wallace, who is agent for the Northern Pacific Steamship Company, saw his wife thrown into the sea when the boat tipped and immediately jumped in after her.

SAVES HER BABY.
She is an excellent swimmer and, managed, after the first daze, to keep her five-months-old baby above the surface. Wallace took the child from her and handed it to the first pair of arms that reached for it. As a result the baby reached the shore in charge of a young man in one boat while the mother came ashore in another.

Mrs. Wallace sustained a severe bruise on one leg, being caught between the boat and the side of the ship. She did not know she had been hurt. She fled immediately after the boat was abandoned, but although suffering great pain, was very cheerful, and by her optimism soothed and comforted many of the other women.

WALLACES WELL CARED FOR.
On reaching Malibu Mrs. Wallace and her baby were given the best attention the place afforded. When the rescue automobiles reached the scene this morning it was unanimously decided that the Wallace family be given the first one. They were hastily conveyed to Santa Monica and on arrival there Mrs. Wallace was sent to the hospital.

The physicians said that she will suffer no ill effects from her experience. The baby, too, seems none the worse for its remarkable escape. It is partly due to the solitude shown by the young man to whom the child was passed. He immediately took off his own coat and wrapped the little one in it and in a blanket until the shore was reached.

ANNEXATION RATIFICATION BALL IN ELMHURST

ELMHURST, Nov. 22.—The Oakland City and County Consolidated Club No. 1 will give an annexation ratification ball in Red Men's Hall, East Twelfth street, Tuesday evening, December 6. One of the features of the evening will be the addresses to be delivered by prominent citizens of Oakland. The committee arranging the affair is composed of John Tidemann, D. F. McLaughlin, George Wortmann, S. T. Chapin, B. L. Taylor, E. M. Hall, J. O'Toole, B. L. Myers, J. A. Wagner and William Buese.

The spirit of justification and meritment will prevail during the function, which will mark the day annexation goes into effect.

STUDIES TOO EXTENSIVE, SAYS CHICAGO EDUCATOR

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of schools, has laid plans for a radical change in the course of study in Chicago high schools. Fewer studies and more time on each subject, she has announced her intention of applying the idea to the schools under her supervision.

"We are too extensive and not intensive enough," said Mrs. Young. "Our programs of study are far too pretentious."

NEGLECT ALLEGED BY PASSENGERS

Steamship Company Accused of Showing No Concern for the Castaways

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22.—Charles E. Hamilton of the Schubach-Hamilton Company, which operated the destroyed steamer St. Croix, is expected here today to meet the situation created by the burning of the vessel Saturday off Point Dumea. Angry passengers, who held an extraordinary meeting yesterday, expressed the intention of confronting Hamilton with claims for extra damage on account of the alleged neglect to which they were subjected through the failure of the steamship company's representatives here to take them from their bleak and desolate camp at Zuni canyon, where they landed after being taken off the blazing ship.

Means of seeking legal redress was the object of the meeting yesterday, but no decision was reached pending the arrival of the steamship company official today.

CASTAWAYS RUFFLED.
Several who took part in the meeting last night in the receiving hospital and in the Central Station, which was thrown open by Chief of Police Dishman to the destitute among the ship's passengers. This did not serve to smooth the ruffled feelings and, especially, they asserted, after local representatives of the steamship company informed them that the vessel's owners assumed no responsibility for them after they reached Santa Monica, even though they got there through their own exertions.

Another development resulting from the destruction of the St. Croix is the ending of the rate war that has been fought during the last two months between the Schubach-Hamilton company and the Pacific Coast Steamship Company. An announcement is expected today from the offices of the latter that the old rate of $12.50 between here and San Francisco will go into effect immediately.

One of the heaviest losses on account of the destruction of the St. Croix is William F. Day, a salesman of 717 Market street, San Francisco, whose case, containing $10,000 worth of jewelry and other valuables, went down with the burned hulk of the ship.

Mrs. L. S. Wallace of Berkeley, who was injured and nearly drowned with her six-months-old baby while the boats were being launched, left the hospital at Santa Monica this morning and will leave for her home this afternoon. Her husband, who dived off the upper deck of the ship when he saw her and the baby struggling in the water, has suffered no ill effects. He and his wife, the ship's purser, and Quartermaster Harry Quigley, who plunged to the rescue with him, were hailed as the chief heroes of the wreck.

Among others who left for San Francisco were Mrs. Charles Volkmann and her six-year-old son Herbert, who was also saved from drowning when the breaking of an eye-bolt sent boat No. 1 plunging bow-first into the sea. They were accompanied by Mrs. Grace Thomas of Vancouver, who aided in the saving of the last.

Speculation concerning the failure of the wireless plant aboard the vessel to send out "C. O. D." or "S. O. S." messages, was quieted today by a statement from F. L. Flahburn, the wireless operator aboard the St. Croix.

"Immediately after the alarm was sounded," said Flahburn, "I rushed to my station and grabbed my key, but to my consternation not a spark flashed. Just as I was about to give up, I received a short time before I had received a message from a passenger by a friend at San Pedro, so the wireless apparatus was all right. The power had been shut off, that's all. Every bit of the energy developed by the boilers had been turned, I afterward learned, to working the pumps."

A Good Dust Home is a Healthy Home.
In dirt lurks danger of disease. This truth is being emphasized more and more by the revelations of modern science. Uncleanliness is not only undesirable but positively unwholesome. Most of the ills which the human body suffers are due to germs, and dirt is the favorite lodging and breeding place of these germs. Remove the dirt and germs and you have a healthy home and you banish the germs.

No more efficient cleansing agent has been discovered than Gold Dust washing powder. Gold Dust cleans everything well. It cuts dirt and grease like magic. In the washing of clothes, it cleans floors, cleaning of bath tubs and sinks, every conceivable cleansing operation, it quickly and completely removes the dirt, and leaves everything it touches clean and sanitariously safe.

CAPTAIN WARNER TELLS OF RESCUE

Sorry Ship Was Burned But Thanks God No Lives Were Lost

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22.—Captain Fred Warner, who commanded the St. Croix, has arrived in this city and reported at the local office of the Schubach-Hamilton Company, owners of the lost vessel.

"I am sorry the ship was burned, but I thank a merciful God that not a single life was lost," he said, fervently. "Immediately after landing, Captain Warner said he dispatched the purser, J. L. Port, and Chief Engineer Lowe to Santa Monica for aid. They arrived at Santa Monica Saturday night, but the commander has not been seen or heard from since."

GRAPHIC DESCRIPTION.
Captain Warner graphically described the burning of his ship, which might have added another horror to the list of sea tragedies had not conditions of weather, tide and sea been most propitious.

"I was in my cabin," said the captain, "when I saw some men on my deck and shouted, 'Captain the ship is afire below the second cabin.' I shouted to the first officer, Mills, in the next cabin, to take charge of the watch below and went on the bridge and ordered full speed astern to stop the ship's headway in order to meet the flames, which I saw bursting out of the after ports."

FIRE ALARM SOUNDED.
"An alarm was sounded. Each man of the crew promptly went to his station. Mills soon had five lines of hose rigged."

"The ship had come to a full stop and the passengers were being placed in the boats when the first officer reported that the ammunition pipes of the refrigerating plant had burst, and that the pungent vapor was overwhelming the men. The fire was gaining about the second cabin. Apparently it started somewhere in the second cabin, and the powerful draft was drawing it down through the shaft alley to the boiler room."

"By this time the fire-fighting force was being overcome, man after man, and the boat men abandoned. Realizing the fight was hopeless, I ordered the men up from below and the fire room cleared."

NO SERIOUS CONFUSION.
"At no time was there any serious confusion. The passengers all provided themselves with life preservers. Mrs. Wallace afterward said that it was a life preserver that enabled her to keep herself and baby up after they had fallen overboard."

"Most No. 1 was the first to be filled and I ordered it cast loose. An eyebolt on the stern post drew out and the boat up-ended, throwing some of the passengers violently and slightly injuring a few. It was then that Mrs. Wallace and the little Volkmann went overboard. I saw several men jump over to the rescue. Immediately I shouted to let the other davit ropes go, and the boat righted itself immediately."

RESCUED FROM WATER.
"In a moment those who had fallen overboard or jumped into the sea were back on board, the boat was baled and on its way outside the line of danger. A few life rafts were manned, but these were abandoned and those on them taken into the boats. We had nine boats. There were about eighteen persons in each."

"I took command of the leading boat and led the course for Santa Monica, where a little strip of beach offered the only landing place between Santa Monica and Santa Barbara."

"It was just half an hour between the first alarm and the time we got away. That allowed us no time to get any of the property of the passengers."

SWELL MAKES WOMEN ILL.
"For four hours the boat's crew rowed through the dense fog before they entered the low surf at the canyon and beached the boats. Some of the women were made ill by the long ground swell, but other conditions were so favorable that some of the women were landed without even getting their feet wet."

WEDDING GIFTS LOST IN WRECKAGE

Loss of Trousseau Will Postpone Andrews-Hoskins Nuptials

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22.—Costly gowns and presents worth $1500, which were to have figured in the wedding of Miss Ethel Hoskins of this city to Richard McMillan Andrews in Japan December 14, were among the baggage lost in the burning of the steamer St. Croix Saturday.

Miss Hoskins was on her way with trousseau and presents to San Francisco, whence she was to have sailed on the Manchuria for Japan. Andrews is the son of a former United States Minister to Japan. The loss of the trousseau, Miss Hoskins said on her return tonight, would entail a postponement of the wedding.

MONEY AWAITS ROBBERS; NONE TO TAKE IT

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22.—Lying on the street, too weak to move, and a prey to the first robber who might chance to come his way, John Burke, a young man, was found at Clay and Davis last night and taken to a late hour hospital. He had $25.40 on his person and had just arrived from New Brunswick, N. J., where he had been visiting his friends. He was in a weak condition, but he remained at the hospital all night.

THE MARCH OF PROGRESS.

There was held recently in the city of London a banquet of a very unusual nature. The prime object was to have all vands, strange and unusual, particular stress being placed on having them as old as possible. That the result was "freakish" one can well believe when it is stated that among the foods served were preserved fruits that were secured from the ruins of Pompeii and Herculaneum, where they had lain since the first century A. D.; wines found in a monastery in France and known to have been there over four hundred years; bread made from wheat found in an ancient Egyptian sepulchre of a date co-eval with Joseph and his brethren; and, in our opinion most remarkable of all, a crock of butter that had been hidden in a cold well fed by a never failing spring, since the days of Mary Queen of Scots, in the Scottish Highlands.

Think of it, butter three hundred and fifty years old! And those who ate it, report that it was perfectly fresh and palatable.

Granted that the conditions are just right, there is no reason to doubt that butter will keep for a long, long time. In this case the conditions were right accidentally; in modern butter making conditions are made right scientifically and with absolute certainty. It is indeed remarkable the influence that science has had in the development of the butter industry.

Think of the old back-breaking dash churns; the mauling by hand the butter went through before the last fly or hair was removed and the salt distributed evenly throughout the butter, and the buttermilk pressed out. All gone! Superseded by the processes developed by science.

The very highest exemplification of the perfection that has been reached in buttermaking is to be found in the products of the Ideal Butter Company. There is no other brand than Ideal Butter that so unvaryingly fills the bill as the highest quality table butter made. If quality, exquisite flavor, richness, purity and uniformity appeal to you, then you will surely be pleased with Ideal Butter. Won't you try it? It is really worth while.

Consternation Reigns at Hel Stewart Over Inno- vation

SAN FRANCISCO Nov. 21—Should a man receive his guests in bare feet, in pajamas and incense, in a hotel lobby?

David Hanbury is the man who has attempted the reception innovation. Standing at noon yesterday he appeared in the lobby of the Hotel Stewart, shoes, socks and in pajamas, ready to receive a guest who had sent up a card.

But had to say the Hanbury pajamas were not in the color scheme of the Stewart lobby. They offended the aesthetic sense of Oscar Wilde, who had fainted at such a jangling lunacy.

But he was from Venice and he threw all the stones of Venice at the pajamaed intruder. He said the hotel called the gods to destroy the impious inharmonizer of the color-tone scheme.

"I am from Venice," he said, "and I met," asked Hanbury of a fellow.

latter 20. Four shots were fired from the battery of two ten-inch guns at a target thirty feet high by sixty feet long, which was moving at the rate of eight miles an hour at a distance of about five miles from the firing battery. All four shots were fired in an interval of one minute and twenty-nine seconds and passed through a rectangle nine feet high by forty-two feet wide. Only three of the shots passed four yards to the left of it.

The 52d company at Fort Robinson, Massachusetts, in October 20 fired four shots from an eight-inch battery at a target thirty feet high by sixty feet long, moving at the rate of five miles an hour at a distance of about four miles from the firing battery. All four shots were hits and the first shot cut the raft of the material target in two.

HAD SO MANY WIVES

YONKERS N. Y., Nov. 22.—Jacob Bremser, the aged Bluebeard who confessed that he had five wives and sons on his way to Connecticut to marry the sixth when Mrs. John Kester of Norwood N. J., who is wife No. 5, caused his arrest, admitted that he had many other matrimonial affairs in addition to the one he had previously mentioned to the police.

I have so many wives that I simply can't keep track of them and to admit the truth, have actually forgotten some of their names," he said.

Amy F Ching, a Chinese girl has entered Wellesley College to equip herself to be a teacher in her native land. She was a high school graduate last summer. A few years ago she left China and entered a normal school in Honolulu. There she supported herself, and after she had completed the normal course she taught for two years saving enough to carry her through Oahu. Miss Ching believes a wave of progress will sweep over China, and that Chinese women will find education. She sees a significant sign in the fact that the women of China already have abolished the use of foot binding, and that they have begun to wear trousers. In student organizations Miss Ching will return to China when she leaves Wellesley, and will devote herself exclusively to teaching her countrywomen.

Emily Piero who was introduced last winter in Chicago society has wearied of the social routine and hereafter will devote herself to kindergarten work. She has joined a Chicago settlement house and there will instruct a large class of children drawn from the slums. Many of these children are foreign and Miss Piero will lead them in their first knowledge of the English tongue. Miss Piero says that she enjoyed every minute of her first season in society but that when the winter was over and she had time for reflection she felt the need of a more serious occupation.

WIVES HE FORGOT THEIR NAMES

In small quantities but believe me on the word of an experienced man I can give you a good thing to leave alone.

Sometimes when I reflect on the wives I have had, I think I must have been half crazy to marry them.

My first wife was Elizabeth Williamson and I married her in Newburg in 1866 shortly after my service in the navy and the Civil War ended. She had seven children four of whom are now living. She was such a crank and lectured me so often that I finally could bear it no longer and went to Westminster, Pa., where I married

'She was a fine woman the only one I really liked, but when my first wife learned I had married her she had me arrested for bigamy and I got seven years. Since then I have had all kinds of wives—good, bad and indifferent—but I'm through now. I have even all the matrimony I want to see."

COOK'S REPORT IS COMPLETED

Will Be Shipped to Copenhagen Under Strong Guard Thanksgiving Day

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The voluminous report prepared by Dr. Frederick A. Cook for the University of Copenhagen, which will set forth in detail the explorer's claim to having reached the north pole, will be shipped under a strong guard on the Scandinavian-American liner United States on Thanksgiving day. From the precautions taken it is apparent that Dr. Cook fears something may happen to his report.

Arrangements have been made to store it in the strongbox in the captain's room on board the ship, where it will be guarded on the voyage by the explorer's secretary, Walter Lestdale. On arrival at Copenhagen it will be turned over only to authorized representatives of the university.

The report, which will contain about 50,000 words, is due to reach Copenhagen on December 7, and Dr. Cook expects a verdict from the university about the first of the year.

"Can be depended upon" is an expression we all like to hear and when it is used in connection with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy it means that it never fails to cure diarrhea, dysentery or bowel complaints. It is pleasant to take and equally valuable for children and adults. Sold by Osgood's Drug Stores.

HARRIMAN LINES RUN TO SEATTLE

Final Agreement Reached, Allowing Use of Hill Trackage

TACOMA, Wash., Nov. 22.—After six months' delay President Elliott of the Northern Pacific and President Louis Hill of the Great Northern will this week sign the final draft of the agreement whereby the Oregon and Washington and the Great Northern railroads will each acquire a one-third interest in the Northern Pacific line between South Tacoma and Portland. This means that the Southern Pacific and the Union Pacific trains will begin entering Tacoma and Seattle in December or January. It was announced last May that an agreement to this effect had been made and it was provided that the final draft should be signed by the presidents of the three roads. Ever since then Presidents Elliott and Hill have delayed signing the agreement on one pretext or another. Their first excuse was that the single track between Tacoma and Portland would not admit other roads using it until the Seattle Exposition travel was over.

J. D. Farrell, the Harriman manager in this state, returned this morning from Chicago and New York. He brings the news that Presidents Elliott and Hill have promised to sign the agreement this week. The Tacoma-Portland line is now being double-tracked. Temporary freight and passenger stations have been provided at both ends and in Seattle.

The Bell Theater has a program this week, styled and conducted to meet the approval of all theatergoers. Features of a class that hold and interest audiences make up the splendid program. Eddie Gallagher, a San Francisco boy, is all to the good in the most pretentious scenic travesty seen in many a day, viz. "The Battle of Bay Rum." It is on the naval order, with an exceptionally good setting and Gallagher has surrounded himself with talent of excellent caliber. There is a rapid line of nonsense that goes with a snaky, to the accompaniment of appreciative applause from the audience. The Admiral and the "Big's" are live wires in their glib comedy. Their witticism with a medley of operatic parodies is a sure hit and leaves the audience weak from laughter.

The Kitabana troupe of Japanese jugglers, acrobats and equilibristae execute their skillful maneuvers before a drop that claims the attention of the women in the audience at once. It is a naval scene showing half a dozen battleships abreast, plowing along. The subject may not directly interest the ladies, but the fact that this curtain is valued at $20,000 and is all the product of Japanese handwork and was years in the making strikes a responsive chord in many a woman's heart. During the week the occasion is given for all interested to step upon the stage and more closely inspect this marvelous handiwork. The act itself is one of wonder and astonishment. Accommodated as we are to all manner of difficult and hazardous feats from the sons of the Mikado, one must pay due homage to this particularly clever aggregation in the skill and dexterity of their nimble work.

"The Markham Divorce Case" is a splendid example of the tabloid drama. John Sturgeon and a company of exceptional ability who present it display more than ordinary talent. In fact, it is one of the strongest and best presented sketches that has come to the Coast this year. Miss Fairchild, who portrays the heavy character, is a stunning looking woman, wears Paris gowns and can act like the best of them. Her work, together with the strength of character displayed by Sturgeon as the attorney in the case, is deserving of the most commendable words.

Steeley & Edwards, musical comedians, create plenty of good, legitimate comedy. Steeley is a piano player of some reputation and his descriptive piano solo shows much ability. Edwards, character man and all-around musician, proves himself a top-notch comedian. Dorothy Dell, a dainty comedienne, charms in character songs, her "Red-Head" being particularly effective.

Two pictures on the Bellescope gain applause, one entitled "Sister Anger," in which her devotion to an officer during King's Guards is shown, and one showing the animals in the Zoological Gardens, New York, at feeding time, constituting an excellent natural history study. The latter picture will be particularly enjoyable to those who are interested in wild animals and the effect captivity may have upon them.

PRISON METHODS ARE ARRAIGNED

Detective Chief Petersen Declares it Does Not Reform the Criminal

"Men who catch men" was the theme of an address delivered by Detective Chief Petersen last night at the Pilgrim Congregational Church. The speaker arraigned the crude methods of the present day in dealing with the criminal problem.

The address was in part as follows:

"The prospective criminal once born, what does society do to prevent his becoming criminal? Practically nothing. The child of the honest poor is allowed to run the streets and to contract evil and vicious habits. The result is eventually a criminal, drunkard or prostitute. The child with hereditary criminal tendencies or propensities is allowed to follow the same course. The diseased or degenerate child whose parents are unable to care for it, is allowed to be exposed to pernicious influences and vicissitudes which, unless he is fortunate enough to die young, eventually make him a burden upon the community.

"What is the remedy at the present vogue? Society punishes the vicious child after the criminal act has been committed, sends the diseased one to the hospital to be supported by the public after he has become helpless. Even in this, the twentieth century, the child who has committed his offense is in many communities thrown by the authorities into contact with older and more hardened criminals and has his criminal education completed. The same fate is meted out to the adult first offender. We have millions for sectarian universities, for foreign missions, and I have no objection to the spending of this money, but we have practically nothing for the redemption of children of vicious propensities or corrupting opportunities, who are the product of our own vicious social system. Every penal institution, every expensive process of criminal law is a monument to the stupidity and wastefulness of society, and expenditure of money and energy to cure a disease that might be largely prevented and more logically treated where not prevented.

"We read of the debut into society of some girls of rich parentage and of thousands of dollars spent for roses and cut flowers in the middle of winter, of the expensive gowns and costly frocks and wiles, and we wonder sometimes of the unrest among the very poor who cannot by the united labor of father, wife and children, provide for the necessities of life. This discontent causes dissatisfaction and crime and paves the way for social revolution or social evolution."

SETTLES HOME UPON HIS WIFE

Harriet E. Cotton Given Decree of Divorce From Contractor

Harriet E. Cotton has been awarded a decree of divorce from her husband, Ernest J. Cotton, of the firm of Cotton Brothers, bridge builders and contractors, by Judge Harris. Mrs. Cotton testified that for eight years her husband had caused her intense worry and anxiety because of his indulgence in intoxicating liquors. She said he would pass about one week in every month at home, and the rest of the time he only knew of his whereabouts by reports of his friends.

She said it was no uncommon thing for her to receive messages at all hours of the night to call at various hotels and lodging places with a change of clothing for him. Often, she said, her brother, Bert Chase, was forced to take care of him, and upon a number of occasions, she declared, she and her sister plotted to kidnap him from his friends.

It was their plan to watch on Market street, San Francisco, for him, and return him home before any of his friends saw him and took him away. Upon one occasion, she declared, she remained on the street until 1 o'clock in the morning, waiting for him to pass. The Cottons were married in Santa Cruz in 1886. The divorce suit was filed secretly and every precaution taken to have the action pushed up by the court and in every month at least one of the papers was ordered sealed. All of the papers were sealed up by the court and it was only upon the issuance of the decree that the ground of action became public.

Cotton has settled his home at Vernon Heights upon his wife. This is valued at $15,000. She was also awarded $75 a month.

STYLISH COUPLE ON ROBBERY BENT

Boldly Attempt to Hold Up the Woman Keeper of a Cafe

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22.—First they wanted him, and then whiskey, and falling in with the plan, a fashionably dressed couple seized Mrs. Anna Cranna while she was behind the counter in her little store at 1246 Mariposa street at 11 o'clock last night and demanded her money.

As they threw her to the floor, she screamed, attracting her husband, George Cranna, who was in the rear of the store. Arming himself with a revolver, the couple rushed to her rescue, and fired three shots at the couple as they stood over his wife. The immaculately dressed hold-ups fled into the night.

First the woman entered, expensively dressed and stylishly groomed, and asked for 35 cents worth of beer. Mrs. Cranna did not have that amount, but offered to sell a less quantity. She then asked for whiskey, which Mrs. Cranna did not have in stock. The woman walked out and ten minutes later a man, carefully dressed, reflecting wealth in his appearance, asked for the same commodities. He stood arguing about the whiskey when the woman re-entered.

The man seized Mrs. Cranna by the left arm, and wrenched her to the floor, while the woman asked where the money was. Mrs. Cranna screamed, and the husband drove out the assailants with three shots. Mrs. Cranna was taken to the Potrero Emergency Hospital where her arm was dressed.

The woman is described as wearing a seal-skin coat, plumed hat, patent leather shoes and gloves. She was evidently about 25 years old. The man wore a long, black overcoat, kid gloves, patent leather shoes, and a derby hat. He had a light mustache, and was about 30 years old.

STABBED IN EYE BY A STRANGER

G. B. Manzini is Victim of Mysterious Assault by Unknown Man

G. B. Manzini lies at Providence Hospital the victim of wounds that may prove fatal and that were inflicted in a mysterious assault made upon him in front of his aunt's home at 610 Forty-sixth street at an early hour yesterday morning.

The unfortunate man cannot explain the attack, nor does he know who is responsible.

Manzini, with his aunt, Mrs. R. Manzini, and his cousins, was returning from a dance. They reached the steps of the house in advance of Manzini, when they heard him utter a scream of agony. Rushing back, they found him prostrate upon the sidewalk with blood streaming from his head and eye and delirious from pain. E-beling footsteps down the street indicated the course of flight taken by the assailant, but he was too far away to be seen distinctly.

The mysterious assailant cut a deep gash on the right side of Manzini's face, which completely severed the eye ball. The police are inclined to believe that Manzini was mistaken for some one else and that the cutting was due to a confusion of identity. Manzini refused to permit the surgeons at the hospital to remove his injured eye, but his attendants declare that the operation will be necessary if he hopes to retain the sight of his other eye.

The injured man lives at 1117 Lake street, San Francisco.

—Professor Kohler, the expert maker of artificial eyes, will be in Oakland next Friday, but will only be here three days. If you wish to consult with him, make arrangements now with our Mr. Mueller.

—In connection with Professor Kohler's work we desire to state that we will guarantee absolute satisfaction. If he does not make an eye that is perfectly satisfactory the patient will not be required to pay one cent.

—His ability to manufacture eyes is known all over the world and the wonderful motion and the life and vitality of his eyes have been the cause of more favorable comment than the work of any other eyemaker in the world.

—He has already appeared at three of our stores and as a consequence we know absolutely that he can be recommended very, very highly.

Prof. Kohler will be in Oakland Friday next, Nov. 26th, 27th and 29th. 466 13th St., Bet. Broadway and Washington, Oakland and at San Francisco, Sacramento, Stockton, Fresno and Vallejo.

'BLACK HAND' SHOOTS TO KILL

Fires Four Shots at Italian Merchant, Who Replies With Shotgun

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Antonio Bondi, an Italian merchant, was attacked early this morning by three men supposed to be members of the Black Hand Society. Four shots were fired through the window of Bondi's house. Bondi, armed with a shotgun, fired twice at the men who attacked him, but it is not known whether anyone was hurt. Bondi says one of the men limped as he ran away.

Bondi has received three letters at intervals since October 14, demanding $500. The last, a few days ago, warned him that if he did not comply he and his family would be attacked. He placed a shotgun within easy reach when he went to bed, and then when the men roused him he was ready for them. The shots were heard by policemen in the vicinity, but when they arrived the street was quiet. No arrests have been made.
